Phoneme	A single unit of sound ie. owl, cat
Decoding	Breaking a word down into its different phonemes to help read it

Comprehension	Understanding what has been read
Inference	Making assumptions about what else is happening in a text from what you have been given to read, ie. 'he dragged himself up the steps' - he could be either tired or reluctant to go.
Deduction	Using evidence in a text to support an idea

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Try not to 'fix' every error your child may make when they read to you. Maybe go back to one or two main errors that will make the biggest difference • Always try to find something your child did well when reading, ie. they noticed they'd misread a word and fixed it all on their own, and mention this to them at the end - you'll be much more likely to see it happen again! • Read books to your child too • Visit and join local libraries • Read comics and magazines together • Let your child see you reading • Make reading enjoyable - not a battle or chore - mostly, let them read what interests them 	National Curriculum https://www.gov.uk/government/collections/national-curriculum Letters and Sounds https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/letters-and-sounds

Phonics and Spelling
Key Terms
Systematic, Synthetic Phonics [the main first method our school uses to teach reading and writing]	'systematic' means the letters and related sounds are taught in a specific sequence. 'Synthetic' means breaking the teaching of written words down into the smallest possible unit of sound. 'Phonics' means teaching reading (and writing) by working with the sounds of the letters in the words to read or write them.
Phoneme	A single unit of sound ie. owl , cat
Digraph	A type of grapheme (see below) where letters show one phoneme, ie. sheet , night
Consonants	Most of the letters of the alphabet are consonants: the letters a, e, i, o, u are vowels
Vowels	The letters a, e, i, o, u
CVC words	Words made up of letters that are consonant, vowel, consonant ie. b-a-t....bat
Grapheme	A letter, or combination of letters, that corresponds to a single phoneme within a word ie. met ; shut ; bought
Segment	Used as an action word where we break a word into phonemes, ie. that > th-a-t
Blend	Where we put the phonemes back together to say the word, ie. th-a-t > that
Compound Word	A word that contains two or more root words, ie. home + work > homework ; in + to > into
Tricky word/Common exception word	A word which can't be phonetically decoded, ie. laugh
Prefix	A set of letters that is added to the beginning of a word to turn it into another word, ie. mistrust
Suffix	A set of letters added to the end of a word to turn it into another word, ie. disappointment
Alien/nonsense word	Not a 'real' word ie. thob , used to check phonic decoding skills without relying on support of written word recognition or contextual support
Homophone	Two different words are homophones if they sound exactly the same when spoken aloud, ie. where/wear

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Practise reading and spelling any words sent home from school - try to do this in a variety of ways, ie. with magnetic letters; cut-up and re-assemble words; write out 5 times as quickly as possible; words stuck on cards around the house etc. • Learn your child's spellings with them • Encourage the learnt spellings to be used in sentences • Encourage your child to write letters, stories, diaries, lists etc • Help your child spot patterns in their spelling words and think of ways to remember them 	National Curriculum https://www.gov.uk/government/collections/national-curriculum Letters and Sounds https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/letters-and-sounds
